

Oriol Xalabarder – CEO Electra Caldense (ES) & ASEME Chairman

Oriol Xalabarder is a prominent leader in the energy sector in Spain, with extensive experience in the management of companies and organizations in the electricity sector. Currently, he is president of ASEME (Association of Electric Companies), where he represents small local electricity distributors, promoting their interests and strengthening their role in the national energy market.

In addition, Oriol plays a key role in CECOT, one of the main business organizations in Catalonia, where he actively collaborates in initiatives to promote the sustainability and competitiveness of the business sector. In his role as CEO of Electra Grup, he leads the company's growth and development strategy, focused on sustainable energy solutions and efficient resource management.

With his leadership, Oriol Xalabarder has established himself as an influential figure in the energy sector, promoting innovation, sustainability and the defence of the interests of small energy distribution companies.